The Black Bar Association Names Two Will County Residents “Seekers of Justice”

The Black Bar Association of Will County (BBA), a non-partisan association, is proud to name Judge Marzell Richardson and youth advocate JoAnn Robinson of the HEART Organization 2012 Seekers of Justice.

The BBA is comprised of Judges and Lawyers from the Chicagoland area with a commitment of service and advocacy in the Will County community. Since inception, the BBA has worked diligently, through community outreach efforts, to provide free legal services for the disadvantaged, to promote advocacy about the needs of the local community and to produce educational opportunities for the future generations of legal minds. It is through this work in the community that BBA members saw an opportunity to showcase the work of local advocates through the Seekers of Justice Award.
